DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(4) because reference characters "139" and "239" have both been used to designate worm shaft, see pages 5 and 6 of the specification. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claims 19 and 20 objected to because of the following informalities: The language of the claim is not completely clear, specifically, what is meant by “...having a dimpled discharge tray surface to reduce for objects transported over its surface.”. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3653

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 8, 10-14, 16-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent 6,050,563 to Vedoy et al.

Vedoy et al. teaches a device having adjustable position shafts comprising : a first and second bearing assembly, each bearing assembly having: a sliding block shaft, a sliding block bearing, a threaded shaft portion, a ball screw, a worm gear, a shaft for engaging the worm gear, a means for connecting the first and second bearing assembly. The device includes: a means for rotating the shafts to raise or lower the sliding block, and the means for connecting the shafts comprises a rod attached to the shaft in the first and second bearing assemblies, a knob attached to the shaft for raising or lowering the bearing blocks, a fixed bearing having a shaft in a fixed position, a shaft connecting the fixed bearings so that the shafts in the first and second bearing assemblies rotate together, springs between the sliding block bearing and the bearing assembly for loading the sliding block bearing, see columns 7 and 8.

Vedoy et al. further teaches a crank mechanism to connect one shaft on one fixed bearing to a shaft on one sliding block bearing to transfer power from the shaft on the fixed bearing to the shaft on the sliding block bearing over a range of positions and an idler block having an idler spur gear, see figures 4 and 5 and columns 5 and 6.

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 3653

Claims 4-7, 9, and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 4-7, 9, and 15 claim a means for measuring the position of the sliding bearing blocks and indicating the position on a display screen. The examiner could not find any teaching of such a feature among the prior art and therefore claims 4-7 and 9 contain allowable subject matter.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 19 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kaitlin S. Joerger whose telephone number is 571-272-6938. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday 9-5.
